The Evils of Strikes.

There is a well organized committee among the laborers throughout the East, and a thorough plan for a universal strike perfected, which, it is stated, will relegate to idleness one hundred thousand laborers. The strike has commenced among the coal miners and iron workers, and threatens to extend to other industries. We may safely assert that no good has ever yet arisen from strikes in the long run. Strikes have generally resulted in a reduction of wages, instead of an increase. Suppose that fifty thousand men throughout the country should drop their implements of industry and go on a strike. This is a loss of a daily productive capital of labor alone of say $150,000 per day—$900,000 per week and $3,600,000 per month. This estimate out of the laboring men alone. The loss to the productive wealth of the country, by stopping the productive industries of the country, is still greater. Say that it is the same, and we have a monthly loss to the country of over seven million dollars per month, in case the contemplated revolt of the feeling strikers is carried out. These strikes came at this time on a falling market—when all iron productions were some ten dollars per ton less in the market than one year ago. It seems that strikes are in the nature of epidemics—they come without reason, and periodically, like any other epidemic. But suppose the laborer gains his point for the time being, after lying idle for a month or two. It will take a long time, at the advanced rates to make up for the losses sustained in maintaining the strike, and before its losses are made, wages as a rule, tumble back to the old price, so that the laborer is out and injured in any event. Again, when in idleness, a man will spend double the amount foolishly which he would do when engaged in his usual industrial occupations. Idleness also, begets bad habits; it inclined to dissipation it is in the hours of idleness that excesses come. Many a man who, during his years of industry, has laid away a little nest-egg in the savings bank, sees it all dissipated during a strike. Again, strikes are, without hardly an exception, brought about by the vacant demagogues, who seek to float into notoriety, or seek to gain their living from the savings of their honest dupes. We believe that if there is a cause for an advance of wages in any occupation, an honest conference between the employer and employees would effect everything that could possibly be effected by a strike. But that is not the plan of these demagogues. They fix out a scale of prices at their Unions, without consulting the employer to know whether the business can stand an advance, and the first thing done is to present the employer with a scale of prices, which he is notified to sign before a certain day, or his whole force will go on a strike. No matter what the damage to the employer may be, the Union is inexorable and the demagogues rule, the dupes strike, and finally are the sufferers. There ought to be a unity of interest between the employees and the employer; and there is, in fact, such a unity of interest, but the striker does not see it, or if he does, refuses to recognize it. Instead of discussing the matter in select sessions of union organizations, if laborers would discuss the matter fairly and impassionately with their employers, it would be far better, and strikes would be avoided. A fair-minded employer will listen to the requests of his employees, and if he cannot grant them will give his reasons, and explain why he cannot accede to their demands. If his reasons are good, fair-minded men will and should listen to them, and be guided accordingly. Could a friendly spirit be cultivated between the employer and employee, a frankness of interchanged views, and could there be abolition of Unions run by demagogues, there would be no strikes, and the laborer would receive better pay for his labor, and such would work for the interests of the other—for really their interests are mutual.

EDUCATIONAL tests on superintendent of public institutions seem, at least, singular; but the question has been raised in the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. And as the Superintendent of the Industrial School refused to be examined on some simple rules of arithmetic, it is held to conclude that he is poorly qualified to hold so exalted a position.

WOODLAND has one steam fire engine but she wants another. The Mail has found an enterprising citizen who rolls out a twenty gallon starter. The wise and liberal will no doubt follow. Ready for an emergency is a good watch word for any California town in the dry season, with the heat at 100 degrees.

THE Woodland Democrat makes an eloquent plea for fair and dignified journalism. It offers many reasons why an editor should be a truthful, candid and accomodating gentleman. We are proud to say that the press of California has many such.

THE Opera House is to be made more commodious by a pack of large dimensions, a minaret, a labyrinthe &c. Abelard Barnes has gone to Europe for curiosities and new notions.

Lorimer and Paris continues to the Board of Supervisors Magnificent $3,500 for the head of the American Minister to France, Mr. Noble.

Vacation.

June and July are the months for travel, recreation, change and rest. All the schools, some and business shut down. Business houses of all sorts, spare one after another, the partners, clerks and employees, for their annual run into the country. Everybody is full of wonders and glories that we can turn many wups, and every time find something. Of course everybody must see Yosemite. It may cost you from fifty to five hundred dollars to do it, according to the size of your family and the way you go. The picture of the glories and wonders hung in the gallery of memory, is a richer heritage than money can buy in lazy other way. Nature claims her children as her estate possession for a few days every year. She can never give you half the wealth of love and power which she stands ready to impart, unless you give yourself up wholly and entirely to her. The science of rightly communing with nature to get the most from her she has to give, is one of the exact and profound sciences, and, for the universal family of man, one of the most important. It is possible to all, to some extent. The difference is in degrees only, and runs from mud pies to a hermitage in the Himalayas. The best preparation for this communion is, first, to throw off all cares and burdens of life. Remember that you are to love and hug your mother earth, and

"From her ample breasts
To suck the milk of power."

Second, to have all the creature comforts to keep your body and mind at their best state. You must be so clad and fed as to be fresh and strong to the very highest degree. Third, you must give yourself single time to give up the full comprehension of every object you behold—see it, if possible, from every point of view, whether it be the whole of Yosemite Valley, a single fall, or a big redwood sequoia tree; walk around it, ponder it, compare it with objects with which you are familiar. In this way, only, can you get to the bright, breadth and size of any of these wonders. Rushing here and there, snatching glimpses and partial views, is a desecration and mockery of the most sacred sights and scenes of earth. Almost better never to have seen at all than to find any object of nature in that way. If all conditions are right, and you can drink in with eye, mind and heart, prepared to receive them, any of nature's choicest sights are seasons, you have added to yourself an odd richer for all time and for all eternity. Take your vacation, oh, brother, and make the most of it. Come back to your work in good time, a sturdy and stalwart son of light, to blaze on the darkness of this naughty world with effulgent light.

THE election of delegates to the Democratic State Convention took place in San Francisco last evening, and resulted in a very large majority for HEARST for Governor. Entire county has also elected HEARST delegates. It is hard telling how the country stands generally, as most of the delegates have been appointed by the County Central Committees—who have probably canvassed the preference of their constituents, and hence they stand, but it is deemed politic that the delegates lay low, as there are lovers of ducks anticipated.

Now that the bottom has completely fallen out of stock gambling operations, it would not be a good idea for those who have been throwing away their money in pumping operations on the Comstock, to turn their attention to legitimate business—combine their capital and earnings in manufacturing enterprises which will live and thrive and prove to be investments growing in value and profit with the years.

MR. COWLIZO allowed himself to be interviewed as far as to reply to some slanders, by denying that he, as might be expected, his satanic press make their departures from his uniform silence the occasion of a still more vile attack. HENRY CLAY and WM. H. SEWARD never valued from their lofty silence under all attacks. Life is too short to waste in chasing lying dogs.

A MILLIONAIRE crank in love, having at no ye business without, who contended that a second divorce will take place in 1883, is building an ark two hundred feet long, inflexpensive, like Noah's Noah, of old, for the great event. He intends, however, to take passage, with $5,000 each, and expects to make a fortune.

THE Comstock mine appears to have completely collapsed, and it will be a very hard matter to collect any more assessments on a large majority of the properties. Hopes of future bonanzas have completely evaporated, and dividends are things of the distant past.

DR. TREINER, the German physician who attended Lady Grace in his last illness at Monadnock, died while attending another patient in Lebanon, her past date there. Dr. Treiner is said to have left behind him some interesting notes of his acquaintance with Lord Byron.

EDWARD ROSEKER's wife deserted his five days after the marriage at Farming ton, Mo., drove him to suicide by her heartless perfidy, and married his rival one day after becoming a widow; yet he claims his entire estate, and will get it, there being no other heirs.

THE school census of Oakland shows an increase the past year of 1,604, increase since 1878, 1,628. This gives an average yearly increase for the past four years of 410.

EAST OAKLAND ITEMS.

Specially Reported for The Tribune.

Golden Gate Council, No. 8,262 of the Knights of Honor has changed its place of meeting from Old Fellows' Hall to Washington Hall, the time still being Wednesday evenings.

The workmen at the Jute mill are drying out the jute and bags delivered by fire, which indicates that the insurance companies have made settlement. The work will be resumed in a few days.

Quick Chey, who has long been in charge of the Chinamen at the Jute mills, and who, by his polite manner and facilities English, made so many friends, has left for Sacramento, where he will be wholesale merchant in San Francisco. Ah Jim has succeeded him in his important position.

Yesterday afternoon a pair of spirited horses attached to a light buggy owned by a Mr. Phillips of San Francisco took fright at some boys playing with a wagon in the neighborhood of 15th avenue and 20th street. They rushed down 15th street at a fearful speed, and when attempting to turn in front of Mr. Hamilton's residence at 15th avenue and 19th street, breaking the tongue of the buggy and leaving out the fastening. The horses and driver escaped without injury.

At about midnight last night another able enlistment was occasioned by the report being circulated at the jute mills that some men were prowling around the premises, and that they had set fire to the firing the mill. Ah Jim, the head Chinaman, mustered his forces, and about 200 Chinamen were seen marching out at dark, and the building was watched. It was reported that to avoid suspicion they came up the creek in a boat, and reached the vicinity of the jute mill by the Peralta road. The report was circulated after the departure of the late rowing partner for a dry land beat.

THE FUNDED DEBT.

City School Bonds—Authorized Debt Bonds to be Refunded—A Saving of $67 00 Per Annum to be Made.

The usual meeting of the Council Committee, which should have been held last evening, was postponed, there being no quorum present. Messrs. Pease and Pohl, Mayor Robinson and City Attorney Tuttle were present, and discussed the subject of refunding the city debt. Judge Tuttle, in answer to inquiries, stated that he had examined the law, and could find nothing to prevent the refunding, as proposed by the Council, and was of opinion that we are sufficiently explicit in regard to the right of the city to refund certain bonds, to warrant the issuance of bonds at any time after three months' notice. Mr. Pease said he was informed that the City Attorney should direct in the necessary resolutions to call in $67,000 of city bonds, segregated as follows: $10,000 of City School bonds issued in 1869, payable in ten years, at 10 per cent. Pohl said he had drawn for any such interest. This action is to be taken for the purpose of keeping the interest now accruing, after the middle of September, from the City School Fund, and advertising for the bonds to be paid in gold. He was also requested to draw up the necessary resolutions authorizing the Mayor and City Treasurer to issue new bonds, to be dated July 1, 1882, and payable in ten years, to be paid at the option of, or less, interest, a saving of $6,700 per annum. This is the result of the suggestion made by Mayor Robinson in his inaugural address. The new bonds, when issued, will probably be adopted under the suspension of the rules at the meeting of the Council, next Monday evening.

The Hiss-King Concert.

Oakland has justly acquired for itself the reputation of being, in a musical point of view, the most cultivated city in the State, and the people are proud of the local musical organizations, such as the Oakland Choral Society, the Hughes Club and Mozart Society, which, with the exception of amateurs, Sub-class musical talent is always well patronized, and the sale of tickets for the single concert, which Madame Hiss-King gives tonight at Music Hall, should be a matter of pride. Miss Ivy Wandesforde, the distinguished vocalist, will also appear on the occasion, and will be accompanied on the piano by Prof. Kelley.

Miss Humphrey's School.

Wednesday morning the closing exercises of the fifth year of Mrs. Humphrey's private school for young children took place at the school building, No. 1007 Second Broadway, and was well attended by the parents of the pupils. The school is a fashionable one, the various pupils were, and positive road were held, in which the pupils gave evidence of great proficiency, thorough training to the entire satisfaction of the parents. The school will be in a flourishing condition, and will open with a taking re-edition. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and mottoes. Miss Humphrey's school is expected to be promptly on hand.

MARRIED.

HARMON-DEST—At Port Yale, on Thursday, June 1, 1882, by the Rev. John Hemphill, D. D., Mr. Geo. Harmon, of Oakland, to Miss Ella Dest, of Port Yale.

DIED.

CRAIG—Jacob L. Mary, Sheriff of Chicago, Ill., gives this as his opinion of ST. JACOBS OIL, as a safe, sure and cheap remedy for pain. Everybody can use this with his sympathy and suggestions, but it is rarely relieved one of the severe pain. I had read the testimonials of people I knew personally, and thought I would try it. The first application worked wonders, and I was well in a few days. It is wonderful; what little show that malady has when attacked with the Great Pain Cure.

An Evening at Wesmer's.

The introduction, by Mr. David Wesmer, of vocal and instrumental concerts in the Tennessee Saloon popular, and is daily more appreciated not only by the lovers of music, but by all sociably inclined people, who find there good company, meet their friends and business acquaintances, and spend a really enjoyable evening without the slight disturbance of any material proportion. The concerts are of a high order, and are rendered in a manner that would do credit to the best professional concert hall. The Ritmo Leiter' Ladies' Orchestra, which is composed of from long association have become unified to a remarkable degree. German and English songs, German duets, operatic airs, popular melodies, encoruge, with the exception of the Ritmo Leiter, in particular, where all are skilled in music and gifted with voices above the ordinary, and the entertainment is one which honors—our cities sole of labor—is heartily enjoyed. Our business men and their guests, and the community generally, attend with pleasure these entertainments, and those who have not yet visited, can afford to all the opportunity to pass an evening in good company and pleasant amusement.
