FIVE ARE SAVED FROM SINKING SLOOP WHICH MEN BAILED WITH HATS

Two Women in Party That Has Narrow Escape Off Goat Island

STRUCK BY SQUALL

Hole in Side of Yacht Lets in Water, but Rescue Comes in Time

Fighting death in the waters of the bay, with nothing but a small bucket to offset a bad leak in their boat, a party of five on pleasure bent was rescued last night as a squall, the worst of the season, struck Goat Island. Short and stunned at the Dunphy stock boat house, a badly soaked, but thankful crowd.

Attorney Hugh McKevitt, who has offices in the Monadnock building, and a party of friends spent the afternoon on the bay, their boat being one of the craft which sailed from the yacht club outside the breakw. In the boat were Miss Ethel Stewart, Miss Winifred Browne, McKevitt and two other men.

On the return trip something went wrong with the rudder and they came to the west side of Goat island. A squall spun the yacht around, and when she righted the water was pouring in through a hole in her side. But one bucket was aboard and the hats of the men were made to bail out. But the leak could not be stopped and a signal of distress was hoisted.

The Sibyl passing by came to the rescue just as the water had all but sank the boat and the party was transferred to the launch. With considerable difficulty the rapidly sinking craft was towed to the shore, the last being cut off Black point and moored to the wharf. James Cleghorn and W. Pabst made up the rescuing crew.

After waiting until their clothing had partly dried, the little party wended its way homeward, the two heroines of the day being escorted to their homes, McKevitt to 845 Lombard street, and his two male companions to an uptown hotel.

PROMINENT MERCHANT JOINS GREAT MAJORITY

Hugh Huddleston, Head of Tea Company, Dies at Home

Hugh Huddleston, head of the Great American Importing tea company and president of San Francisco for 28 years, died at his residence, 2446 Washington street, last night. Huddleston had been in failing health for some time. He visited the eastern states recently for the benefit of his health and returned home a week ago apparently much improved. Soon thereafter he suffered a relapse. He was 62 years of age.

Huddleston was born in Londonderry, Ireland, in which city he became a newspaperman. On coming to California in 1869 he went into business, forming the Huddleston-Ellis company, which in time developed into an extensive concern, with branches in every city on the Pacific coast. He was extremely literary in his tastes and collected one of the finest private libraries in the west. He leaves a wife.

CUT IN ARM BY HOODLUMS

"The Forty Thieves" are thought by the police to be responsible for the stabbing of Harry McCarty of 781 Florida street, who received two wounds in the arm last night. McCarty, with a companion and a woman, was passing Thirteenth and Valencia street when he was insulted by a gang of hoodlums. When he remonstrated one of them cut him with a pocket knife.

RAW FROM FEET TO SHOULDERS

With Eczema—When Indoors, Itching Was Fearful — Prescription Did No Good — Followed Friend's Advice and Found Speedy Relief.

A PERFECT CURE BY USE OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I was raw from my shoulders down to my feet with Eczema. I was in bed. Warm room I could not stand the itching sensation. I tried several remedies with no relief, and I consulted a doctor who told me that I had eczema and that it was incurable. I was in bed almost two weeks and got no benefit. I then tried another ointment with the same result. Then I was advised to try the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. I followed the directions. By the time I had used about half of each of them I could see an improvement. After that I continued to use them until I had used four cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Ointment and two large bottles of Resolvent, in four or five weeks time. At the end of this period, my skin was as clear as it could be. It is now three or four years since I used them and I wish to state that the Cuticura Remedies are worth their weight in gold. My mother also used the Cuticura Remedies, for which my wife has been a sufferer for years. Cuticura Remedies, used in connection with one of the Cuticura springs, have cured her of her ailment." Search in Vain for the Missing Son of G. W. Luce

BOY LUCE, MISSING SON OF G. W. LUCE, WHO DISAPPEARED FROM HOME ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Roy Luce, son of G. W. Luce, the general freight agent of the Southern Pacific, has disappeared from his home Friday evening his family and friends have been searching for him in vain and private detectives and policemen have been scouring the city from north to south in hunting the missing boy.

Accompanied by a friend he was riding on a south bound suburban car about 5 o'clock Friday evening. Between Bush and Pine streets Luce had blew off and his friend jumped off the car to pick up the hat. He recalled the hat blowing down the street, and when it was recovered the car had proceeded on its way. This was the last seen of Luce by any of his friends. He disappeared so completely as though the earth had swallowed him.

Luce has been in poor health for some time. It is feared that in a fit of temporary mental aberration he went astray and met with some misfortune. He lived with his parents at 1545 Broadway, and he was employed by the Van Ellsen real estate company.

The missing youth is aged 19 years, but appears to be not more than 17. He is 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighs 130 pounds. His complexion is fair, his hair light brown and thick and the eyes are large and dark blue, heavily browed and with long dark eye lashes. He was dressed in a dark mixed gray suit of clothes with double breasted coat.

The parents of Luce will pay a generous reward for any information which would lead to his recovery.

SHANGHAIED SAILOR'S MESSAGE IS TOO LATE

Note in Bottle Found on Bay Shore Near Alameda Point

When the British tramp steamer Blackbrae sailed recently from this port for Leith, Scotland, it left behind a shanghai mystery, which was cleared up yesterday by the finding of a message in a bottle which bobbed up in Bird's cove, near the foot of the Southern Pacific's Alameda pier. The foundling was dated September 5 and was as follows:

To whom it may concern—The party dating this message will please cause to be notified that I am being held as a prisoner on board the city of Blackbrae.

Where this notice was communicated to the police they were informed that several days before the vessel sailed, which was on September 7, an attempt had been made to shanghai Hugo Ritter, a member of the local firemen's union. Ritter was in a saloon on Howard when a deputy sheriff appeared with a warrant for his arrest on a charge sworn against Captain Shand, the master. Shand had "disappeared" and the deputy, keeping a bay three special policemen employed on the ship, crossed the bay.

Efforts to locate the skipper failed, and the Blackbrae, a regular trader through the Golden gate a cabbagram was received from the Blackbrae's owners in London relieving Captain Shand of his command and placing Captain J. R. Hamilton in charge for the voyage.

The police believe that a number of men were shanghaied on the Blackbrae, that Ritter's luck in belonging to a protecting union was all that saved him from making a involuntary voyage around the Horn to the Scottish seaport.

SAILOR SHOOTS TWICE AT HIS ERRING WIFE

Uncertain Aim Saves Life of Woman He Sought to Kill Outright

When August Netzer, a sailor living at 9½ Main street, returned to his lodgings yesterday about noon he took offense at his wife because she was entertaining two friends. Ordering the men to leave he took from his drawer a revolver and fired two shots at her, one of the bullets cutting her breast, the other just grazing her neck, but not wounds will prove fatal. Netzer is in custody. It was not that the sailor objected to his wife's company as much as it was the condition while entertaining them. He was intoxicated, and after her wounds were dressed at the harbor hospital she joined her husband in the cell, for he, too, is a drunkard, whom she had had locked up on a charge of assault to commit murder. The sailor gave himself up to Patrolmen McFarland and Kinneberg, who met no resistance on the way to the prison he invoked the clemency of the judge, pleading in extenuation his drink, pleaded dementia alternans, and said he had shot to kill.

Neither of the two principals enjoy a high reputation for sobriety in the neighborhood, which fact is held to explain the woman's uncertain aim in his wife's survival.

CAMERA CLUB EXHIBITION

The print committee of the California camera club, 2206 Steiner street, announces that a collection of prints by W. E. Dassonville will be placed on the walls of the clubroom about September 20. Dassonville's work is well known, having appeared in various parts of California and include the Yosemite and Mary valleys and some of the old missions. The pictorial quality of Dassonville's work is well known throughout the United States and Europe.

BIGGY BEGINS WORK AND 225 ARRESTS ARE MADE IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Policemen in All Parts of the City Show Great Energy in Work

LAWS ARE ENFORCED

Men in Department Realize That Their Positions Are in Jeopardy

With Chief Biggy ensconced firmly in the seat of honor in the police department that branch of the city government has experienced a new lease of life, and the 24 hours ending at 12 last night witnessed more arrests than have been made in any 24 hours during a corresponding period for years. The entire department, from the lowest patrolman on the street to the subordinate next in line for the chief's position itself brushed up from the dust, got out his club, and, when midnight had passed, had made 225 arrests, which number had been gathered into the cells and locked up at the city prison. Stations a single point in the city greater has in the past served for a month's booking contributed its limit their usual number. From Butchertown to Ocean beach, a distance of 30 miles, the city presents coast at nightfall, and when the morning dawned arrest had been made in every contributed its quota, and three offenders were locked up in the Mission station.

Orders had been passed around that Biggy was on the street, so the subordinate next in line for the chief's position itself brushed up from the dust, got out his club, and, when midnight had passed, had made 225 arrests, which number had been gathered into the cells and locked up at the city prison. POLICEMEN GET BUSY

First they had it that it was at the Central station. Patrolmen lounging in front of gambling houses on this corner immediately got busy, made an arrest, and then, with the prisoner in tow, walked out into the street and marched away to the station to be seen by their new chief. Rumor had it that Biggy had started for the Mission, and twenty petty offenders entered in that district. A red arrs was seen coming down Mission street, and, sure enough, it was a red arrs that had Biggy written on his way. The Potrero policemen then took steps to be seen and every patrolman managed to have business in the station at least once during the day. In the park the officers must have thought Biggy was in that vicinity, for more than three times the average number of arrests were made there.

Patrolmen anxious to make a good impression and increase their chances of gaining emoluments to the upper office—the one afim of every policeman—put on their gum shoes, set out their dark lanterns and went making for the dives and gambling houses. Bill Ryan, it rested on the shoulders of Sergeant Sergeants Al Williams and Tom Burke at the central station, whose duty it is to enter the name of every arrested man or woman on the prison books, together with such other facts concerning the prisoner as may be needed for public inquiry. All day long there was a continual string outside the desk waiting to be signed up before the prison doors closed behind them, and when night came every cell was crowded to overflowing.

CITY'S LAWS ENFORCED

Men were arrested for almost every conceivable offense. Most of them were accused of being drunken sots, disturbers of the peace, and every one of them denied operating bookies, or being in the employ of bookmakers, and required to keep them in order. Four men were arrested on the San Bruno road for riding bicycles on the side walk, an offense that has been winked at for years that section, which is the only distinguishing mark between the country and the city on the line of telegraph poles that separate them. If a man had the appearance of having just come from a saloon he was grabbed up by a hungry policeman, searched for booze, and handled as drunk. Almost any action out of the ordinary was sufficient to get a man and in it disturbed of the police were arrested, 6 for malicious mischief, a like number for vagrancy, which charge covers a multitude of sins, 17 for gambling, 1 for heresy, 156 for drunk and small numbers for other misdemeanors made up the total of 225.

The bond and warrant department of the district attorney's office suffered accordingly—at least, the st. ranlook dist. More money was gathered in during the day than ever before, all of it in small amounts, and a policeman was detailed specially to guard the money while it was being counted.

LOOKS LIKE BIGGY'S MOVES

The trembling which has been felt in the boots of the upper office men since Biggy's appointment were intensified when it became known that his designation of heads had begun. Luke Livingston, promotion officer in the police court, admitted the action of the special details, was the first to go, and his head fell before the official axe yesterday afternoon. Livingston was ordered to report to his superior for duty on the street, and he will begin his new duties this morning. Biggy refused to say what the next change would be and even refused to confirm the news of Livingston's removal. The latter admitted it, however, and said that he was satisfied with the change. He will be succeeded by Sergeant Ryan, a captain of detectives, which is being filled temporarily by Captain Duffy, whom Biggy chose to act when former Captain Duke resigned. The position must be filled, according to the charter, by one of the police captains, and Biggy, in his anxiety to expeditiously raise before Duke's of appointing from Chief Dinan, will not be picked to take it. It is the thought likely that any change in the detective department will be made until the new detective captain has been appointed. The new man to serve under him cannot be picked by him, but must be selected by the chief. Captain Dinan, the present chief, still holds forth, and in the chief's office Captain Duke's successor was the chief clerk last night. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that Sergeant James H. Anderson, a brother of Captain Anderson of the Ninth avenue station, will be appointed. It is equally as certain that Sergeant John J. O'Meara, a lieutenant of Biggy's in business will become the new chief clerk.

NORTHWESTERN PACIFIC TO IMPROVE ITS NORTH SHORE BRANCH AT ONCE

Electric Generating Equipment Will Be Installed at San Anselmo

FARES MAY TUMBLE

Bay Counties Competing Line Soon to Be Striving for Patronage

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars is to be expended by the North Western Pacific railway in improving its North Shore branch from Sausalito to Marin county points. Improved electric generating equipment will be installed at San Anselmo, and the road will be repaired that the company will electrize the road to Point Reyes. The Bay Counties railroad a competing line, will begin construction work in Marin county today, and this will have the effect of causing a reduction of fares on the Northwestern line.

During the last summer there was a decrease in the number of freight and passenger traffic on the North Shore branch of the Northwestern Pacific. The stress fell upon the poorly equipped section of the line between San Anselmo and Fairfax and it is there that the first work of reconstructing will be done. More than $107,000 will be expended in providing electrical equipment for the road between San Anselmo and Fairfax. Two new locomotives will be placed in commission immediately on the arrival of Pacific motor generators which are to be installed in the San Anselmo power substation.

More than $2,000 will be expended in bettering the service and equipment between San Rafael and San Anselmo and a new schedule is promised for the system.

In planning the improvements of the San Anselmo power substation, space is reserved for the installation of sufficient machinery to provide power for the operation of the contemplated electric line to Point Reyes. The work of the road is now controlled by owners, but the company deems electricity a more better method to the road.

The commuters of the North Shore branch have been clamoring for cheaper rates between this city and their homes and with the extension of the electric service and the competition of the Bay Counties railroad it is expected the reduction will be made.

NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Election of Officers for Year Is Followed by a Banquet

The Alumnae association of the Notre Dame college, San Jose, met last night yesterday for the annual election of officers for the ensuing year. About 50 members, many of them residing out of the city, were in attendance.

Miss Ethel Tarpey, elected president, and Miss Regina Cleary, Marie Ryan and Marie Dunne, elected vice-president, were the officers. Miss Ethel Slater Alayne was chosen recorder and Miss Gertrude Lennon secretary.

Members who will serve on the board of directors are: Mrs. J. C. Miller and Misses Agnes Mahoney, Regina Cleary, Mary Clarkin and E. Keenan.

After the election of officers the association adjourned to the dining hall where a banquet was given, during the course of which toasts were responded to by members of the alumnae.

Miss Regina Cleary, Miss Agnes Mahoney paid a touching tribute to Notre Dame and brought back many pleasant memories of the years spent within the walls of the old college, which was destroyed in the fire of April, 1906.

Miss Margaret Nunn, in her toast, "Old and the New," compared the college before the fire with the present one, which was created lately through the untiring effort of the 26 sisters of Notre Dame.

"Our Teachers," the toast of Mrs. Mary Dunne, was well and feelingly responded to by Miss Josephine O. Molloy, caused great enthusiasm.

The toast to "San Francisco" given by Miss Regina Cleary, received much favorable comment, as the redoubt was entirely in poetry.

Mrs. Dunne gave the closing toast of the banquet, after which the alumnae members adjourned to the music room, where the following musical numbers were rendered: Violin, solo, Miss Van Ravenzow; piano solo, Miss Geraldine M. John; chorus by the Misses Ethel Tarpey, Gertrude Lennon, Miss Marie Garrick; vocal solo, Miss Margaret Nunn; vocal duet, Misses Margaret and Mary Nunn. Father Sullivan then blessed the statue of St. Francis Xavier, the gift of Mrs. J. C. Miller to the college, in memory of her husband, a member of the Alumnae association, and who died two years ago.

After this ceremony the program was brought to a close with benediction of the blessed sacrament in the college chapel.

TRAIN STRIKES BUCKING HORSE AND KILLS CHILD

Father of Infant, Driving Buggy, Is Deemed Near Death

OAKLAND, Sept. 15.—Marie Jackitch, 6 years of age, was killed and her father, Joseph Jackitch, residing in, injured in a railroad accident which occurred at Seventy-third avenue crossing tonight.

The two, with three friends, were driving to their ranch home along the Seventy-third avenue road, when they reached the crossing they found a train approaching. Jackitch held the reins and drove too close to the tracks, for the descending gates became entangled in the rig. During the danger, the gateman immediately lifted one of the barriers and the horses started. The horses began to back and jumped right across the tracks as the train came near.

The child and her father were thrown upon the track. Five cars passed over the child and life was extinct when she was picked up. The father, who is twenty-nine years of age, is expected to live. Jackitch was taken to the central emergency hospital.

Tillman, accompanied by his daughter, will reach this city Tuesday morning.

FAIRMONT GUEST IN TILT WITH CHAUFFEUR

Honolulu Man and Mahout Disturb Peace of Dinner Hour

Loud and angry voices in the lobby of the Fairmont hotel, the sight of a threatening chauffeur, an indignant citizen and two or three distracted clerks rushing about in an endeavor to ease all on the troubled waters was the excitement offered to the guests of the hotel last night as they were filing in for dinner.

Despite the efforts of the clerks, the voices of the disputing men rose higher, but mutual friends appeared on the scene and checked what for a moment had been the preliminary to a free for all fight.

The trouble arose over the charges for the hire of an automobile. A chauffeur of the Auto livery company and H. E. Fisher of Honolulu were the disputants. The latter had been seeing the sights of San Francisco in the automobile, and when the ride was over the Honolulan valet now long he had been out.

"Two hours," said the valet.

"Three," said the chauffeur.

"Pay him for two hours—and everybody join me in a drink," said Fisher.

"Keep your drink and pay me for three hours," said the chauffeur.

After desperate efforts the wrath of the chauffeur was appeased, and he retreated on a couple of a hansom bathhouse and the lobby of the Fairmont hotel once again assumed that state of respectable peace and quietness which hovers over it under normal conditions.

SEALS RETURN TO JAGGED ROCKS DESPITE FRIGHT AT CLIFF HOUSE FIRE

Rejoin Brave One Who Did Not Flee at Sight of Flames

BASK AGAIN IN SUN

Thousands Visit Beach to See Famous Herd in Wonted Place

The seals have returned. They are back again at the old location on the jagged rocks, their squeaking fully regained. They no longer fear landmarks that make bonfires of themselves and are contented to stick by the old quarters for the rest of their natural lives. That the big white structure that stood by the Golden gate is gone the seals are aware. It was a sight they saw when it was burned, but the matter is as dead as are the bears now and the seal that barks about it runs great risk of being viewed pronounced and weary yawns.

When the seals disappeared after the burning of the Cliff house it was feared that it might be a long time before they returned. One big fellow was missed from the rocks, but obstinous changes made on land and so long as his pile of rock remained he was contented to bask in the warm sun. His assurance probably lent needed courage to his fellows and as a result the famous seal family now is completely established.

Visitors to the beach yesterday were agreeably surprised to find the life on the seal rocks completely restored and all of their old friends secure at home. Many thousands of spectators roamed the sands or viewed the rules, discussing plans for rebuilding the Cliff house in greater grandeur.

Only one of the cable cars in the operation for an hour and a half despite the going and coming of many, as the enormous patronage of the cars caused a shortage of power. On the Sutro and Cliff line the derailment of a car added to the delay.

PLANS FOR MEXICAN CELEBRATION COMPLETE

Followers of Diaz Prepare to Revive Memory of Forefathers

Preparations for the celebration of the ninety-seventh anniversary of the independence of Mexico were completed yesterday and at the dome of Golden Gate Commandery hall, in which they are to be held, are thrown open tonight the greatest celebration of its kind ever held in this city will have begun.

Citizens of the local Mexican colony have put forth great efforts this year to make their national holiday a success that ever before. The supply of tricolored flags representing Mexico has been exhausted and the city will be dotted and under one or more of them will be the home of every loyal follower of Diaz in the city.

The services tonight will be in the nature of an entertainment. The memory of Miguel Hidalgo, the Washington of Mexico, and Benito Juarez, its second liberator, will be reviewed. Mayor Taylor will deliver an address and a grand concert will conclude the entertainment.

Today Must Be the Day

Ladies' suits and coats worth between $20.00 and $40.00 can be had for $14.95. Garments made on premises this very latest style. The only store and suite department in the city.
