Sweet Peas and Roses Will Bloom in the Spring.

THE SAN JOSE CARNIVAL

Success of a Coming Event Guaranteed by Prompt Response.

A WHOLE RANCH IN FLOWERS.

Some Twenty-Five Acres Will Be Devoted to Growing the Decorations.

SAN JOSE, CAL., Oct. 6 .- The carnival of Roses to be held in this city in May, 1896, will be a grand success. This is evidenced by the success met with in an extended canvass of the city yesterday by A. Greeninger, chairman of the executive committee; Director-General Henry; C. M. Wooster, representing the Board of Trade; H. M. N. Spring, chairman of the committee of ways and means and finance; Colonel A. K. Whitton, chairman of the committee on parade, and W. C. Andrews. These gentlemen report that every one seen is enthusiastic over the carnival, and that all have promised financial aid and donations of flowers in such amounts as to make the enterprise a success. In order to secure large quantities of flowers of the same color for decorative purposes arrangements have been made with owners of vacant land whereby about twenty-five acres will be planted in roses, sweet peas, marigolds and other flowers that will come into bloom in May.

H. V. Morehouse and Colonel A. K.

Whitton have each subscribed one acre of sweet peas and Mrs. C. H. Cropley has subscribed one-half acre of roses. Committees have been appointed to see that the weeds in all vacant lots are removed and the same set to flowers. Efforts will be made to have about eight acres of the Normal grounds set out in marigolds or some other flower that can be easily raised and effectively used for decorative purposes. Everything possible will be done to beautify the city, and when the carnival opens San Jose will be a veritable flower bed.

In a short canvass yesterday afternoon Chairman Spring of the finance committee secured over $3300 in subscriptions. This is over one-third of the amount needed to insure the success of the enterprise. Only a few representatives of each business and profession were seen, but all were enthusastic and responded liberally to the call for subscriptions. The subscriptions are to be paid in six monthly installments, beginning November 1. Besides the subscriptions actually received promises have been secured from persons who were not ready to name individual amounts, but that will swell the sum to $4000. The Mercury and the other papers of the city have tendered the use of their columns for all publications free of charge.

Chairman L. J. Chipman of the flower supply committee, aided by Mrs. C. D. Wright, Mrs. M. D. Brainard, Mrs. R. B. Dunlop, Mrs. J. H. Stark, Mrs. J. F. Thompson and other representatives of the County Floral Society, have been busily engaged during the past week in making arrangements to insure a sufficient supply of roses Meetings of the various flower supply committees will be held during the coming week at the office of L. J. Chapman in the Hall of Records. The committee for 32 Brainard and Professor C. W. Childs, will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The general flower supply committee for the county will meet next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Arrangements for the entertainment to be given by the County Floral Society for the benefit of the carnival fund are progressing very favorably. It will be given in Turn Verein Hall. Professor F. L. King has volunteered to supply the music gratuitously for the occasion. The entire San Jose Orchestral Society will be upon the stage and discourse some of its choicest music

RAIDED CHINATOWN:

San Jose Officers Capture Fan-Tan Players by Strategy. SAN JOSE, CAL., Oct. 6 .- The police last evening raided a fan-tan game in Heinlen's Chinatown and arrested twenty-one Chinamen and one woman. The police have been watching the place for several days, but as soon as the sentinels saw the officers coming the doors would be closed and bolted. In order that an entrance might be effected, Chief Kidward decided to disguise the officers. An old junk wagon was secured and Officer Haley, blacked as a negro, and Officers Anderson, Bache and Woods, in the conventional attire of hobos, retired to Heinlenville in this rig.

The approach of the dilapidated old wagon did not attract the sentinels' attention, and before the Celestials had time to bolt the doors the officers were inside. The twenty-two Chinese were taken to the police station, and fourteen were subsequently released on depositing $5 each.

Charles F. Ledwith, an Electrician Shoots Daniel Rimlinger and Barely Misses W. B. Amner.

An attempt to kill two men was made by Charles F. Ledwith, an electrician of 307 Fourth street, while intoxicated in a saloon at 222 Fourth street last night.

He did put a bullet from a 38-caliber pistol into the left side of Daniel Rimlinger, Rimlinger's wound was not fatal, the bullet having lodged in the muscles of his back. The bullet which Ledwith intended for Amner went into the front door-casing of the saloon. Policeman Stanley arrested Ledwith and booked him at the Southern station on two charges of assault to Yesterday at the Shell Mound range Young resumed his experiments, and at the conclusion of his last string of five shots he cried, "Eureka!" for he had fixed his rifle so as to hit the center of a 25-ring target at 200 yards. In five shots he made 23, 23, 25, 25, 25. He might have continued making dead centers until dark had not the mainspring snapped. The two twenty-threes were an inch and a half apart and the twenty-fives could be covapart and the twenty-fives could be covered with the ball of the thumb. These results were obtained with black and

D. McLaughlin, also a member of the Columbia Club, did some remarkable shooting. In six shots he made 24, 24, 24, 24, 25, 23.

STRECKER SCORES HIGH.

The Champion Rifle Shot Does Some Good Work at San Rafael Range.

Adolph Strecker, the great rifle shot, registered a rattling score in a private match with John Utschig at the California Schuetzen Club's range near San Rafael yesterday. Twenty shots were fired at a twenty-five ring target by each man. Strecker ran a good string of shots from the start and when he finished he had a total of 454 points out of a possible 500. The excellence of the shooting is apparent from Strecker's statement that the distance of his twenty shots from the center of the dollar-sized bullseye averaged only about two inches.

The principal event on the range in the way of club matches was a medal shoot by the California Schuetzen men. The scores were very creditable. D. B. Faktor did a bit of very fine shooting when he rolled up a score of 117 out of 125 in his last five shoots.

His discourse was brief, and consisted mainly in mention of the services of the Virgin Mary and her valuable teachings, as embodied in the mysteries of the rosary. In the course of his remarks he said that some sinners had been brought back to the church, "not by learning, not by science, no, not even by sanctity, but by the influence of the Blessed Virgin;" that the way in which men must go to the Lord is the way in which he came to them through the medium of the Blessed Virgin and the rosary.

Donovan would not allow the teams any breathing time and the second half was started without a minute's delay. As in the first half the Emmets at the start kept their opponents on the defensive and Ahern had to keep on the alert to prevent the ball from passing him. The grounds had not been staked off nor were the goal posts erected, but rather than disappoint the spectators posts were put up for goals and pieces of paper marked the boundary lines.

The teams yesterday were evenly matched. The San Franciscos had the advantage in the first half and succeeded in securing a goal, but the Emmets pulled "The Creed of the Twentieth Century," finding inspiration for his theme in the reply Peter made to Christ when he asked. "Who think ye I am?" Peter said, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of God." The speaker showed how these words formed the very heart of all religion. As to the creed of the twentieth century, the could not state the exact nature of its external expression, but he propesied that these words. A story gained some currency yesterday concerning Dr. Gilbert F. Graham's connection with the Durrant case which, if true, is of prime importance to the people's case against the accused student. The story, which is to the effect that Dr. Graham has come forward and given to the police information which he has withheld for months, is for that reason burdened with the element of improbability, and for the same reason is held up to scorn by the attorneys for the defense. However, the authenticity of the story is reason the doubt as to its accuracy is in large part removed, while this same fact in itself gives color to the contention the defense has made all along, that the police have exerted themselves to refresh the memories of witnesses since the case first theory by inducing them to testify to matters in which their memories failed to serve without much prompting and accuracy as a server without much prompting and accuracy of the serve without much prompting and accuracy of the serve without much prompting and accuracy is in large part removed, while this same fact in itself gives color to the contention the defense has made all along, that the police have exerted themselves to refresh the memories of witnesses since the case first ties—Little Bob beat Salvator, Active beat Dashaway, Fearless beat Sundon the set Victory beat Bonnie Lass.

This is the new story told by Dr. Graham to Captain Lees white the latter was in bed yesterday morning. If it can be substantiated by Dr. Graham taking the stand and testifying to that effect his testimony.

stantiated by Dr. Graham taking the stand and testifying to that effect, his testimony will be exceedingly damaging to Durrant's case and will go far toward convicting him of the murder of Blanche Lamont. Dr. Graham left the City immediately after his early morning visit to Captain Lees and was not to be seen yesterday.

Durrant's attorneys are disposed to treat Dr. Graham's new statement lightly.

Mr. Deuprey said last evening:

"Dr. Graham must have been taken with a sudden pricking of the conscience. It does not seem to have troubled him all these months that he claims to have carried it. His accounting for not having told the story before, on the score of friendship, is rather a hollow excuse, for they were not on any particularly friendly they were not on any particularly friendly terms. His story sounds to me as though he had been studiously prompted by some one, as I am almost certain other wit-

one, as I am almost certain other witnesses have.

"It is true Dr. Graham visited General Dickinson's office at my request, as stated, but he did not make any such admissions. I asked him particularly if Mr. Durrant had acted in any manner to suggest that he was ill at ease and he told me he had considered the request for the notes as nothing out of the ordinary. As a matter of fact, we were in possession of Mr. Durrant's notes before Dr. Graham called on him at the City Prison and they have not been out of our possession since." not been out of our possession since."

The prisoner himself was not at all concerned yesterday about the new testimony which it is alleged Dr. Graham will give.
"The story is simply another of the series of lies that have been published about me," said he. "Why did not Dr. Graham tell that story long ago I should like to know? If it was because of friendliness for me I certainly appreciate it, but I was just as certainly never aware he had so much friendship for me. I cannot believe Dr. Graham has made so untruthful a statement."

statement.' In an interview with a reporter some days since, Dr. Graham stated that the only hing he would be able to testify to would be the fact that Durrant asked for his notes. He said then that he did not consider it is not to be a said then that he did not consider it is not to be said then that he did not consider it is not to be said then that he did not consider it is not to be said then that he did not consider it is not to be said then that he did not consider it is not to be said then that he did not consider it is not to be said then that he did not consider it is not to be said the said then that he did not consider it is not to be said the sider it an extraordinary request, and stated very plainly that in Durrant's acgists and dealers.

tions and conversation during his visit to him in the City Prison there was nothing that indicated a consciousness of his guilt. Captain Lees stated last evening that it was true Dr. Graham had made a new statement to him. "The young man stated," said he, "that he had to go on the stand and testify, and that he could not there hold back the truth as he has been doing, for he would be perjuring himself.
This he could not do, so he came to me and told his story."
