

THE EXAMINER, SAN FRANCISCO, SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 14, 1898.

Adolph Sutro as He Was.

His Likes and His Dislikes.
His Generosity and His Obstinacy.

AS A MINER

Adolph Sutro, as he was known in his youth, was no less distinguished a figure than the public man who occupied the highest position in the city. He was a miner and a capitalist, and who occupied a foremost place in the mining industry.

The main reason for his success as a capitalist was his ability to see things from a different point of view. He was a man of vision, and he was able to see things that others could not see. He was a man of action, and he was able to do things that others could not do.

He was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.

He was a man who was not afraid to be different, and he was a man who was not afraid to be unpopular. He was a man who was not afraid to be hated, and he was a man who was not afraid to be despised.

He was a man who was not afraid to be alone, and he was a man who was not afraid to be misunderstood. He was a man who was not afraid to be forgotten, and he was a man who was not afraid to be remembered.

He was a man who was not afraid to be a failure, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a success. He was a man who was not afraid to be a loser, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a winner.

He was a man who was not afraid to be a nobody, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a somebody. He was a man who was not afraid to be a nobody, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a somebody.

AS A MAYOR

When he was in his prime, Sutro was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.

He was a man who was not afraid to be different, and he was a man who was not afraid to be unpopular. He was a man who was not afraid to be hated, and he was a man who was not afraid to be despised.

He was a man who was not afraid to be alone, and he was a man who was not afraid to be misunderstood. He was a man who was not afraid to be forgotten, and he was a man who was not afraid to be remembered.

He was a man who was not afraid to be a failure, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a success. He was a man who was not afraid to be a loser, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a winner.

He was a man who was not afraid to be a nobody, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a somebody. He was a man who was not afraid to be a nobody, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a somebody.

AS A CHARITY GIVER

Adolph Sutro was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.

He was a man who was not afraid to be different, and he was a man who was not afraid to be unpopular. He was a man who was not afraid to be hated, and he was a man who was not afraid to be despised.

He was a man who was not afraid to be alone, and he was a man who was not afraid to be misunderstood. He was a man who was not afraid to be forgotten, and he was a man who was not afraid to be remembered.

He was a man who was not afraid to be a failure, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a success. He was a man who was not afraid to be a loser, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a winner.

He was a man who was not afraid to be a nobody, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a somebody. He was a man who was not afraid to be a nobody, and he was a man who was not afraid to be a somebody.

IN THIS VARN IS ALL THAT REMAINS OF ADOLPH SUTRO

AS A MINER

Adolph Sutro, as he was known in his youth, was no less distinguished a figure than the public man who occupied the highest position in the city. He was a miner and a capitalist, and who occupied a foremost place in the mining industry.

AS A MAYOR

When he was in his prime, Sutro was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.

AS A CHARITY GIVER

Adolph Sutro was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.

IN THIS VARN IS ALL THAT REMAINS OF ADOLPH SUTRO

AS A MINER

Adolph Sutro, as he was known in his youth, was no less distinguished a figure than the public man who occupied the highest position in the city. He was a miner and a capitalist, and who occupied a foremost place in the mining industry.

AS A MAYOR

When he was in his prime, Sutro was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.

AS A CHARITY GIVER

Adolph Sutro was a man of great energy and great determination. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks, and he was a man who was not afraid to fail. He was a man who was not afraid to stand up for his beliefs, and he was a man who was not afraid to fight for his rights.