Judge F. D. Soward of Downieville, who is making a winning fight for Assemblyman, declared that Ford, Senator Gillette's opponent, did not discuss any of the issues of the day, and appealed to the miners to support him without regard to party lines.

Senator Gillette will get the solid Republican vote in the mining counties, and even run ahead of his ticket. Gillette is making such a canvass of the district as never was made before. In the Legislature he assisted in carrying through important mining legislation, and he has the confidence of the leading mining men of the State. Much enthusiasm was of the State. Much enthusiasm was aroused by Gillette's visit and he will run ahead of his ticket in Tehama County.

ELOQUENCE OF SELVAGE.

WEAVERVILLE, Oct. 17 .- A rousing Republican meeting was held here to-night. State Senator C. H. Selvage opened the campaign with one of the most eloquent and forcible speeches ever delivered in Trinity County. He won his audience from the start and held it to the finish.
The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic ever held here. Senator Selvage culogized George C. Pardee and Alden Anderson as stalwart Republicans, worthy of the admiration and support of all Californians. He spoke of the national policy of the Republican party and the prosperity it had brought to the nation.
He said this policy could be sustained only by electing Republican Congressmen and Senators.

Tor Curtin, devoted the greater portion of his time to the tariff and the trusts. He ODESTO, Oct. 17.—Franklin K. Lane, Gaston M. Ashe and Senator J. B. Curtin arrived in this city from Stockton this afternoon and were met at the railway station by a large delegation of Stanislaus County citizens. The nominees were escorted to a carriage, which was drawn by four beautiful white horses, and, preceded by the Modesto Concert Band, the procession started for the Tynan Hotel. The streets along the line of march were lined by residents anxious to get a glimpse of the distinguished visitors.

·Great preparations had been made by the committee in charge of the arrangements and the meeting to-night was well advertised throughout the county. The Stanislaus County Agricultural Fair, which opened to-day, brought a crowd into town, and during the afternoon the nominees attended the races, where they were met by a hearty reception.

The programme of the evening began at 7 o'clock with a torchlight procession, two brass bands participating. The operahouse had been engaged and arrangements had been made for an overflow meeting in the open air. Superior Judge William O. Minor presided in the operahouse and introduced Lane as the first speaker. the committee in charge of the arrange-speaker.

Lane's address was mainly an appeal to the workingman. He said that this was a Democratic year, as California had never elected two Republican Governors in succession and that this was why he was so certain of success. He thanked the crowd for its interest and for the reception tendered him. Lane was followed by State Senator J.

B. Curtin, who is a nominee for re-election from this district. Curtin discussed national issues at some length, devoting a greater part of his speech to the trusts. While Lane was holding the attention of the audience in the opera-house Gaston M. Ashe, nominee for Congressman in this M. Ashe, nominee for Congressman in this district, spoke to a large crowd on the street. He discussed national issues from a Democratic standpoint, and, like Senator Curtin, devoted the greater portion of his time to the tariff and the trusts. He denounced the action of the Republican State Committée in importing speakers from the East to instruct Californians how to vote. He closed his speech with remarks complimentary of the Democratic nominee for Governor.

Lane next addressed the overflow meeting and in a short address said that when he got to be Governor he would work for storage reservoirs for irrigation purposes

Before launching into his address on the issues of the day Littlefield paid a compliment to the services of the present Congressman from this district, Hon. James McLachlan, and also spoke in praise of Congressman Needham, the Republican nominee in this district under the reorganization. He advised his audience to do what it could toward the re-election of Needham because of the good services he had rendered in his past two services he had rendered in his past two terms.

Littlefield compared the conditions that existed under Democratic rule with the prosperity to-day under Republican rule. In his opinion no State in the Union had been benefited more, as the result of Republican doctrine, than California; therefore California, above any other State, should see to it that the policies of McKinley and Roosevelt were indorsed by Kinley and Roosevelt were indorsed by the election of Pardee for Governor and every Republican Congressional candi-

The Democratic doctrine was one of free trade, he said, but still no Democratic nominee for Congress in California would dare say on the public rostrum that he was in favor of free trade. He warned Republicans that it would be dangerous to give complimentary votes to the Democratic nominee for Governor on the ground that there was no national politics connected with the office, for the reason that, to quote from Andrew Furuseth's speech delivered in San Francisco last week, Lane would have the power to fill any vacancy that might occur in the California delegation. Notwithstanding Lane's words laudatory of President Roosevelt in all of his speeches, if Lane were elected Governor he would use all the vast influence of his administration toward the defeat of the great statesman he was now praising.

Littlefield touched upon the protection the Republican party had given the sugar, raisin, wool, fruit and other industries in which California was vitally interested and the harm that would result if the Democratic deciring of free trade The Democratic doctrine was one

In California the Democracy studied the question of free trade and protection, but he assured his auditors that the national organization was in favor of free trade, and that it are and protection, but he assured his auditors that the national organization was in favor of free trade and that if any of the Democratic candidates for Congress in this State were elected they would have to stand in on such a policy not withstanding their declarations that they are favor of a modified protection.

The Congressman denied that the tariff was the "mother of trusts." No Democrat, whether statesman or editor, had ever stated how or why the tariff was the "mother of trusts," and he publicly challenged them to do so. He said freetrade Great Britain was honeycombed with trusts and combinations and called attention to the fact that many of the great trust articles handled and manufactured in this country were not on the protected list.
