

HUNGRY VIENNESE
THROUGH U. S.
BUREAU

Reflecting the pitiful want which prevails in the countries of central Europe, a cablegram from Vienna made public today by W. A. Starr, local director of the American Relief Administration, tells of the excitement that occurred when the food draft plan of the A. R. A. was put into effect. The message follows, in part:

Thousands literally swarmed to information bureau. In three days more than 20,000 inquiries were received. On the fourth day the crowd was three abreast two blocks long, police having difficulty controlling it and preventing scalping on postcards and information pamphlets. Postcards to relatives and friends in America forwarded to London by sackfuls. Starving Vienna clutching eagerly at opportunity offered by A. R. A. warehouse.

Food draft books have been received on the Pacific Coast, Starr announced, and those wishing to buy food for the relief of relatives of friends in central Europe may now buy a draft from a bank, calling for a specified amount of food, and mail the draft direct to the person for whom it is intended. The drafts are sold in $10 and $50 denominations.

Food drafts also may be purchased for general relief and the American relief agents will supply the food to the most needy persons in the country specified by the purchaser.

The relief warehouses have been established at Vienna for Austria; Warsaw for Poland; Budapest for Hungary; Prague for Czechoslovakia, and Hamburg for Germany.

The names of banks in California, Arizona and Nevada having the drafts for sale may be obtained by addressing Starr at 243 Sansome street.

British Feminists Grow
Angry Over Problem of Mating 'Surplus' Girls

By FLOYD MACGRIFF

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 23.—A statement by Dr. R. Murray Leslie that England has 1,000,000 "too many" women and that something ought to be done about it, has aroused angry and resentful comment among prominent feminists. They declare that the modern woman, with her diversified interests, is not a husband hunter and that no alarm need be felt over the fact that there are no male mates for 1,000,000 British women.

Radical views on the subject were expressed today by Miss Norah Marsh, editor of National Health, and an authority on eugenics. She contends that a new social and moral code is growing up which will solve the question.

STATE OF TRANSITION
"The important thing to consider is whether, with 1,000,000 unmarried women, England can maintain her population at its natural state of increase," said she. "We want parenthood encouraged only among the fit. A large number of these surplus women, from a physical and mental standpoint, would make admirable mothers. We are now in a state of transition and our whole moral code is under review. It may be that the day will come when a new social code will help us solve the problems of these surplus women."

"For forty years feminists have declared that marriage ought not to be the whole end of existence for women," said Miss Underwood, secretary of the Women's Federation League. "Now, in view of women's wider interests, they only look upon marriage as a minor incident in their lives. Present day marriages are not attractive to many women."

SERVICE TO NATION
"It is not the want of opportunity for marriage which makes a woman discontented, but her unequal economic position compared with that of men. When she secures equality with men professionally and industrially and in every other direction, you will not have any discontented women. A well developed woman needs activity, not protection."

Miss Lillian Barker, women's organizer, said:

"There is a type of woman who is not anxious to get married. I do not look for any grand 'husband hunt'."

Cliff House Soon
To Be Reopened by Noted Restaurateur

The Cliff House, known the world over, again is to be opened to the public.

Charles W. Sutro announced today he is negotiating with Jacques Bustanoby, famous restaurateur of New York, to take over the place. The deal, it was said by Frank English, attorney for Bustanoby, will be consummated within a few days and the new owner will take charge within a month after the lease is signed.

"Bustanoby, who has had remarkable success in New York with his Domino Room at Sixtieth and Broadway and his Beaux Arts at Fortieth street and Sixth avenue, has great confidence in San Francisco and he likes this city," said English. "He will bring a staff of famous chefs with him and he will provide entertainment that will please even the most exacting."

Bustanoby plans to spend $10,000 or more in refitting the dining rooms and dance floors of the Cliff House. The Cliff House was closed during the war because it was too close to military reservations to permit of liquor being sold.

The Rotary Club and the Downtown Association have been active in trying to secure the reopening of the famous resort.

HE DARKENED HIS GRAY
HAIR

Tells How He Did It.

Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well known resident of San Francisco, who was called Daddy and Grandpa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

Film House Labor
Troubles May Close
Chicago's Movies

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Owners of moving picture theaters in Chicago today announced they would close their houses February 29 unless the Moving Picture Operators' Union dismissed its business agent and modified its demands to the theaters "to employ men who are not needed just so that some unemployed men in your organization may be paid."

The announcement was made in a letter to operators advising them their services would not be required after Sunday.

Tom Malloy, agent of the Operators' Union, declared film exchanges which sided with the theater owners would be "boycotted in every theater in the United States and Canada."

Film exchanges announced they would cease delivery of films after February 29. Malloy was a business partner of "Mossy" Enright, noted Chicago labor feudist and gunman, who recently was shot and killed.
