

SPECTACULAR WRECK AND RESCUE AT OCEAN BEACH

SHOONER DESTROYED ON THE BEACH

All Hands Saved From a Schooner in the Breakers.

THEMERE is a picturesque harbor, a mile and a half down the beach from the Cliff House. It is a heavily laden lumber schooner here, which mistook the harbor entrance for a creek yesterday morning, failed to see the house-boat and grounded in the surf with a heavy list to starboard. The schooner was wrecked by the coast life-saving crew and taken to the station for dry-docking and repair.

Caught and swept aboard on the 11th she struck fast in the sand, the vessel was in the very furrows of the sea, every inch of her hull was under water and she was being driven across the bar by the rising tide. Though she was not far from the beach, the crew ran and for of the sweeping crew made the approach accordingly difficult for the lifeboat. The tide then rose and the schooner was in the attempt to get her back into the surf. The lifeboat was lowered and the crew was rescued. The schooner was wrecked by the coast life-saving crew and taken to the station for dry-docking and repair.

Eighty or more men were on board at the time of the wreck. The schooner was heavily laden with lumber. The crew was rescued by the coast life-saving crew. The schooner was wrecked by the coast life-saving crew and taken to the station for dry-docking and repair.
