THE ASSESSOR'S PLEDGE.

It is notorious that small property-owners are assessed to, the full value of their property, while the property of large corporations, particularly in the matter of the assessment of franchises, is greatly undervalued for the purpoles of taxation. We piedge our nominees for Assessor and aembers of the Board of Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, to make a thorough revision of the assessment of the city and county, to the end that the burdens of government may be equitably astronuted; and we further piedge them to follow the spirit of the rule laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of the San Jose Gas company vs. January, and determine the value of franchises by deducting the tangible property assessed from the market value of the stock and bonds.

Whereas, the Assessment Committee of the Board of Supervisors have determined, through their expert, that the franchises of many of the corporations of this city may be increased to a sum aggregating not less than $15,000,000 under this rule, and that then but 60 per cent of the market value will have been assessed, we pledge our nominees for Assessor and members of the Board of Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, conditions remaining the same, to increase the assessment roll in the matter of franchises over and above the assessment of this year by at least $15,000,000.

is believed that the coming weel will bring some stirring scenes in the poenaed the representatives of all the quasi-public corporations to appear before him during the next few days to show cause why their assessments should not be raised. While it is true that each corporation in this class has of Assessor Dodge, who proposes this year to assess these corporations under $372.000.

the rule laid down by the Supreme Court Assess pany vs. January. This prescribed that the method of arriving at the value in mind that the most valuable possesof a franchise was by deducting from sion of a street railroad company is not the market value of the stock the value of the tangible property. The San Jose That is to say its exclusive privilege of the tangible property. company had no bonded indebtedness, but by parity of reasoning the bonds but by parity of reasoning the bonds eise that should be taxed and the only should be included in fixing this valuation. The platform pledge taken by Dr. caped taxation. It is only another way Dodge requires that the bonds should of expressing the size of a monopoly's be considered, for the reason that the sum of the stock and the bonds at their selling price in the market is supposed selling price in the market is supposed, to represent the value of the property, and that neither the stock nor bonds. It also appears that the roadbed and past week collecting statistical data for use when the contest opens with the big corporations of the city over the enforcement of the new rule of appraisement which that official has pledged himself to support. Much anxiety pre-vails among the various street railway and lighting companies as to the extent to which the Assessor intends to raise their valuations, and it is understood that efforts have been repeatedly made through others to ascertain his exact policy. All attempts to probe the se-crets of the office have been futile, and no corporation will obtain even an approximate idea of its tax bill until its representative has been closeted with Dodge in his office.

There is every reason to believe, however, that the assessments on the quasiever, that the assessments on the quasi-public corporations will be enhanced in a startling degree, and that not less than $20,000,000 will thereby be added to the tax roll from this source alone. The increase in the valuations of personal property unsecured by real estate has been more than $5,000,000 and the collections on this class of property has been $100,000 more this year with tendays more to work than was turned into the treasury during the entire season last year. Even a still larger increase. has been made on personal property se-cured by realty, on which the taxes will not be collectible until after the tax levy has been fixed in September. With only a few exceptions the individual in-stances of raised assessments have been in cases where the property involved was valued in the statement at $5000 or more. No change has been made in the heldings of the small property-owners or the smaller business men. The additions to the personal property roll have been brought about by elevating the valuations of merchants, heretofore underassessed, to the level of their competitors who had been fairly taxed in the past. It is the knowledge of these facts that is making the gas mone poly and the railway companies tremble.

The Market-street Railway Company is especially concerned over the outwas valued in the statement at $5000 or s especially concerned over the outlook. The application of the Supreme Court ruling means that it will be obliged to pay over $150,000 more into the city treasury than it contributed lust year. Its total assessment in 1898 for rails, real estate and franchise was $7.398.140, of which the franchise was assessed only at $4,287,800. Its rails and cars and other similar property were assessed at $2,091,300; real estate at $1,019,040; total, $3,110,340, representing the value of the tangible property. But the market value of its stocks and bonds is about $24,000,000, and by deduct-ing from this amount the value of the tangible property the franchise is found to be approximately worth $20,899,660. Should the Assessor rate this at 60 per cent the franchise would be taxed at about $12,500,000, as against a valuation in 1898 of but $4,287,800. In other words, the combined assessment of its fran-chise, realty, rails, etc., would not be less than $15,000,000, as against $7,398,140. assessed last year, when the taxes paid amounted to about $137,640.

The increase this year would be over $150,000, assuming that the rate of taxation remained at the same figure.
The Market-street Railway will not be the only corporation that will be compelled to contribute its share to-ward the support of the government. ward the support of the government.

the invading forces because of the soldiers' persistence in quartering themselves in cabins which they had been warned were infected.

There was a time in Siboney when every cook and every nurse in the hospital first established were down with yellow fever, leaving not a single man capable of rendering attention to the sick. The Twenty-fourth Infantry (colored) had just arrived, fatigued, exhausted and broken with gallant service in the field. Colonel Greenleaf appealed to their Colonel to detail some of their men as nurses, but that officer only reluctantly consented to permit a call for volunteers for the dangerous and distasteful service, yet every man in a company stepped forth in response, a record which, the speaker declared, had never been paralleled in the annals of war.

PORTUGUESE SOCIETY OUTING.

The Portuguese Protective and Benevo lent Association had its twenty-eighth annual outing and reunion yesterday at Snell Mound. The members assembled at their meeting hall, 510 Bush street, in the morning and marched, headed by a band of music, through the principal streets to the ferry. The two large pavilions at the park were filled with dancers all day.

The society was organized in 188 for mutual benevolent purposes and has accomplished much good, paying weekly benefits and furnishing free medical attendance in sickness. The society dishurses about $4000 each year has $250.

ENGINE DERAILED AND A VERY BAD ACCIDENT BARELY AVERTED.

VERY serious accident on a portion of the Cliff transportation system was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon near Land's End. The train that connects at the head of California street with the California. Sacramento and Clay street lines left the station for the Cliff House at 4 o'clock. The train contained five cars put on to accommodate the homecoming crowds and on account of the late hour there were only five passengers aboard bound for the ocean shore. Engineer Barber and Fireman Bullard were in charge of the train.

Just before reaching the tunnel at Land's End the engine slackened up speed and, after emerging at the ocean end there was just enough way on to keep the train moving. Two hundred yards beyond the tunnel one of the small wheels on the forward truck of the engine broke in two, throwing the cab and tender off the track close to the embankment. The engine tipped over on its side a few feet from the rocks and dragged the first car off the line, partially derailing it. The other cars stayed on the track.

Nobody was in the forward car at the time of the accident. It was detached from the engine and the train crew managed to lift it back on the rails. A telephone message was sent to the superintendent of the Sacramento-street system and another engine was sent to the scene of the wreck. The train with its passengers was then hauled back to the California-street terminus and the public were notified by a placard at the Cliff House end of the line that traffic would be discontinued for the day, as it was found impossible to lift the wrecked engine with the limited means available at the time. The track will be cleared this morning and trains will run as usual. Neither Bullard nor Barber suffered any injury and it is not believed that the engine is damaged beyond the destruction of the cab windows and a badly twisted truck. The spot where the accident occurred overlooks the steepest part of the route, while the tracks are only a short distance from the embankment which runs sheer down several hundred feet to the rocks and ocean below. Had the engineer been making any speed when the wheel broke nothing could have saved the whole train from a fearful plunge down the cliffs into the surf.

CONFLICTING REPORTS ABOUT HER DISMISSAL.

HER SERVICES AS CHIEF NURSE AT THE PRESIDIO PRAISED BY SURGEONS.

California's Representatives in Con gress Will Seck Satisfaction at the Hands of the President.

On both sides of the continent influential people are working for the vindication by reinstatement of Miss Eliza . McLean, who, from the time that women nurses were taken into the Army in August, 1898, until shé was reieved on the 4th of last April, was turse-in-chief of the Division Hospital at the Presidio. Being forced out as she was carried the imputation that the dismissal was for cause. Under this Miss McLean and her friends would not rest. They have seen every person who vas connected in any way with the administration of the hospital, and say that they will now take the matter to the President. This decision has been precipiated by the assertion of Surgeon General Sternberg when in this city a few days since. He said emphatically that, so far as he was concerned, the case was closed. He recalled all the circumstances of Miss McLean's case, as his memory has been refreshed by California's representatives in Congress and Judge McKenna of the Suoreme Bench, but claimed that any acion in the case would have to come han himself. Representatives of California feel hat there is something more in the question than even justice to Miss Mc-Lean, for the reports received here as to the manner in which the change was made say that with the recommendamade say that with the recommenda-tion for the removal went the sweeping assertion that there was no one in Call-fornia qualified to fill the position of head nurse in the Division Hospital. They say that if there is one thing of which California is proud, it is of the class of women who have been gradu-ated from the hospitals in this city. When confronted with reasons for the When confronted with reasons for the change, those in authority here have claimed entire ignorance of the motives for it, but the results of investigations made by Mayor Phelan, Congressman Kahn, Senator Perkins and others do not verify that position. It was brought out by investigation on one line that Major Matthews, the surgeon in charge of the Division Hospital, was the one

Miss McLean was the first woman accepted in California by the Government to act as nurse in the Division Hospital. She was booked by Colonel Middleton on August 26, 1898, and entered almost immediately upon her duties. She had but little assistance at first, and for three weeks, during the reorganization of the hospital, worked twenty-one hours a day. There are those who re-member the earnest young woman who gave herself no rest, doing far more than the regulations required, and they protest that some one else wanted and obtained the position when the salary was raised from $30 to $60 a month. The story told by Miss McLean is as follows: "On the 26th of August last I went to the Presidio Hospital intending to offer my services, as nurses were badly needed there. I was met by Dr. Matthews, who, after questioning me. said he wanted me to take charge of the wards as chief nurse, and took me through the hospital at once that I might be familiar with the ground. I took charge the next day, and for three weeks worked twenty-one hours a day until the place was reduced to something like order and the number of nurses had been increased to an efficient

"At the time the nurses were sent to Honolulu arrangements were made to send me in charge of them, but as there was no one competent who was willing to fill my place at the hospital I remained. Nothing was ever said to me in the way of reproof or censure either by Dr. Matthews or Colonel Forwood, and I was much surprised to be told on the I was much surprised to be told on the morning of April 4th by Dr. Matthews that he had no longer any need of my services as chief nurse. He added that he was very sorry, but the instructions had been received from Washington, and that a nurse would be sent from there to relieve me. The next day Miss Cowan was introduced to me as my succession and that he had been to relieve me. The next day Miss cowan was introduced to me as my succession and took pharms at once. I seed Cowan was introduced to me as my successor and took charge at once. I asked Dr. Matthews if my services had been satisfactory and he replied they were more than satisfactory—that he could not say enough in praise of my faithful work; but when I asked him for a letter to that effect he said he did not want to write it, as it might be used to mix him up in the affair and that it might hurt him at Washington.

"Miss Cowan acknowledged that she never had had any training and that mess cowan acknowledged that she never had had any training and that her experience as a nurse was gained since the war with Spain. She claims, however, to have graduated from a medical college in Philadelphia. Dr. Matthews has told me several times that against my ability, either as an executive or a nurse, nothing could be said, and that if arrangements could be made at Washington nothing would please him better than to have me back again. I understand General Sternberg has said that there was absolutely nothing against me at Washington, and when an investigation was demanded by Congressman Kahn he was told there was a statement of the was told the was t by Congressman Kahn he was told there was nothing to investigate; that there was nothing against me except that I was too young to fill such a position. I am 28 years old, and Miss Cowan, my successor, claims to be three years younger. However that may be, Miss Cowan, who was sent out to take her place, halled from Iowa, the State in which Major Matthews votes for President. Incidentally the fact has been brought out that Miss Cowan does not come up to the Government's exactions, in that she is not a graduated nurse.

In California there is for Miss McLean a sympathetic regard, as she is the young woman who, when Nurse Hawkins contracted typhus fever from a man whom he had nursed, volunteered to nurse him.
